Authorization for this Examiner's Amendment was given in a telephone interview with , Mr. J. P. Kastenmayer on 11/15//2007.

Examiner's Amendment to the Claims

Cancel claims 1-69 and 76-77.

In claim 70, lines 4-6, after "MK2 polypeptide", delete ", wherein said MK2 polypeptide comprises a proline-rich region, a kinase catalytic domain, a threonine residue that can be phosphoporylated by MAP kinase, and a nuclear localization signal;"

In claim 70, line 8, after "comprising", insert --- a Shc polypeptide set forth as ---.

Examiner's Amendments to the Specification

In page 1, paragraph [001], line, 1, after "this application", insert --- is a 371 of international application PCT/US03/23981, filed 8/1/2003, which ---.

In page 1, paragraph [001], line 2, after "60/400,044" insert --- filed 8/2/2002 ---.

The following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance:

Claims 70-75 are directed to a yeast two hybrid screening assay comprising providing an assay system comprising first fusion protein comprising an MK2 polypeptide (see figure 2 of Stokoe et al., Biochem. J., 296, 843-849, 1993, cited in the specification and the IDS) and a second fusion protein comprising Shc protein of a specific amino acid sequence, measuring a level of interaction between the fusion proteins in the presence and absence of a test compound and comparing the level of interaction of the fusion proteins wherein difference in the amount of complex in the presence of the test compound relative to the amount of complex in the absence of test compound indicates that the test compound inhibits or promotes complex formation.

Claimed Shc protein, amino acid sequence is free of prior art. Further the prior art does not teach or suggest preparing such specifically claimed amino acid sequence. Hence said sequence is also non-obvious. Since said amino acid sequence is both novel and non-obvious a method of use of said amino acid sequence in a two hybrid screening assay as claimed is also novel and non-obvious.

Claims 70-75 are allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
